

Someone who really loves their job - Sergei Surganov

i) What the person's job is and what it involves

For a really long time I have admired Sergei Surganov. He is a very passionate and skilled designer and software developer. He worked on a lot of big projects that to this day use his legacy.

ii) What they like about their job

In his talk about work Sergei says that ideas becoming visual things that you can almost feel with your hands is the main reason he still works in the sphere.

iii) What makes them good at the job (their personal qualities)

He is hard-working, consistent and focused about his final destination.

iv) How they feel about the job

In the speech developer says that the job is a game you like playing and also a challenge that you feel motivated by.
